ABOUT KELLY PAXTON, PI, CFE

www.kellypaxton.com

kelly@kellypaxton.com

Kelly is the Principal and Founder of K Paxton LLC. As a Certified Fraud Examiner and private investigator, Kelly is a nationally recognized expert in fraud who has investigated hundreds of cases.

Kelly is also an expert in Pink Collar Crime. What started as a research project (why are so many embezzlers women?), has become an extremely relevant and relatable speaking topic. Her hands-on investigative experience, along with her research into criminal behavior and investigating for both the prosecution and defense, provide real-life, practical information.

Kelly didn't start out in law enforcement but that's where she spent most of her career. While she was working at a financial services firm, a client was arrested on wire fraud charges. This ended up leading her to a new, much more exciting career as a special agent for US Customs. She was able to work all types of cases including white collar fraud, money laundering and narcotics cases. She got used to investigating "bad guys!"

Kelly has worked in both the public and private sector. Her cases have included embezzlement, conflict of interest, intellectual property, Open Source Intelligence and fraud. Her most recent position was at Nike where she was recruited for her expertise in Open Source Intelligence and being a Certified Fraud Examiner.

She also was a contract investigator for the Department of Homeland Security doing background investigations. She has performed hundreds of top secret clearance background investigations for the federal government. (Not Edward Snowden's though!)
